

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DrumIt Five Electronic Drum Kit from 2box finally available in USA

Studio Sound International, LLC, Mission Viejo, California, February 20, 2012.

SSI acting as sales representatives for the Canadian distribution company EFKAY Music USA will head sales and marketing for the brand in the states and is happy to announce that the DrumIt Five Electronic Drum Kit from the Swedish company 2box is now available and in stock in the US.

2box is the new incarnation of the renowned ddrum electronic kit as it comes from the hands of the original designer and one of two original owners of Clavia.

We feel that the DrumIt Five is an exceptional professional set and holds the attention of every Pro who sits behind it, mentions SSI President Chris Adams.

Brian Carter, VP of Sales for SSIus and long time music professional and drummer will head all sales and presentations in the states as 2box gets known and played by all drummers who have been looking for an amazing electronic drum solution where transportability, consistence, playability and feel are KEY for drum pros.

Recording studios, big, medium and small will also benefit not only from the volume solution, but also by achieving quality recordings rarely heard out of a product of this type. Being able to upload your own sounds via a software librarian is a huge plus as well as totally forgetting this is an electronic set.

Many drummers have already been aware of this fine kit, as it's been in Europe for years and have been anxiously awaiting it's availability stateside.

2box is finally here and will be available through local drum shops and music stores nationwide in the months to come.
